ABOUT THE LEGO® STAR WARS™ DESIGN TEAM

On behalf of the LEGO® Star Wars™ design team, welcome to the Mos Eisley Cantina. Any Rebel should feel right at home with the diverse cast of aliens, smugglers, musicians, bounty hunters, star pilots and Jedi Knights, complete with all the danger, adventure and space skulduggery you would expect from such a place.

The scene from Chalmun's Cantina in Star Wars: A New Hope has been on our brick-it list – and fans' wish lists – for a long time. (We think it's worth the wait.) We have packed it full of details from the movie and included more than 20 iconic characters to make it look great on your display shelf!

So, claim your favourite spot in the bar, pour yourself a blue milk or Alderaanian ale and enjoy building this epic part of the LEGO Star Wars Master Builder Series.

MEET THE MODEL DESIGNER

César Carvalhosa Soares
LEGO® Star Wars™ Designer

The first time I watched the Cantina scene in Star Wars: A New Hope, I was 12 years old. I just loved the gloomy feeling. I thought, ‘this is where the adventure starts!’ Our unlikely heroes meet for the first time in this “wretched hive of scum and villainy”. It was the perfect way to set the tone for all the adventures that followed.

So, when I became a LEGO® Star Wars™ designer in 2016, this was the first set I built. It sat on my shelf for a few years until we were ready to release it. We added external buildings like the Jawa shop, refined the details, and chose 21 minifigure characters, including all-new alien figures. The movie scene features about 40 characters. I love that all Star Wars characters have cool backstories, no matter how briefly they appear. It wasn’t easy to decide which characters to include in the set, but we hope fans will love the entire model and its line-up of heroes and villains.

“THIS PLACE CAN BE A LITTLE ROUGH”

With his home burned to the ground and his family lost, Luke Skywalker sees no alternative but to go to Alderaan with Obi-Wan Kenobi and become a Jedi. Their first stop: The Mos Eisley Cantina, the ideal place to hire a skilled pilot who can outrun Imperial starships, no questions asked. Obi-Wan warns Luke that “this place can be a little rough”, which turns out to be a slight understatement. This is clearly the Wild West of the Outer Rim Territories.

Luke declares himself ready for anything, but our young farm boy barely makes it through the door before facing trial by fire in a fight with Dr. Evazan and Ponda Baba. When Ponda loses his arm to Obi-Wan’s lightsaber, no one raises an eyebrow and the band plays on.

Enter Han Solo, captain of the Millennium Falcon/shady smuggler with a price on his head. A deal is struck that promises our heroes a quick exit from Tatooine, and Han and Chewbacca an urgently needed payday. When Greedo the bounty hunter threatens to get in the way, Han doesn’t hesitate to shoot first. We want to see this motley crew escape against the odds, but can you really trust a smooth-talking star pilot with an itchy trigger finger?

V-35 LANDSPEEDER

This V-35 Landspeeder has never been created as an official LEGO® Star Wars™ model before. The V-35 is an older-model ground transport often used on the galaxy's Outer Rim Territories like Tatooine. An inexpensive but versatile speeder, it is widely used by frontier dwellers and smugglers alike. The LEGO version has room for a driver and a passenger.

In Star Wars: A New Hope, the white and yellow version replicated in this set is only seen briefly in the Cantina scene. We get a glimpse of another version of the V-35 Landspeeder with a different colour scheme in Owen and Beru Lars' garage as C-3PO is about to take his oil bath.

THE CANTINA BUILDING

When you slide the Cantina building open and lift off the roof, you get a clear view of the cavern mayhem inside. From the bar with Wuer the bartender to the booth where Obi-Wan Kenobi, Luke Skywalker, Han Solo and Chewbacca strike the deal to go to Alderaan, and everything in between.

Enter through the sliding front door and try to smuggle R2-D2 and C-3PO past the droid detector. You can decide who shoots first in the booth where Han Solo meets Greedo - just pull the lever to activate the eject button in one of the seats.

And of course, no Cantina scene would be complete without the Bith band Figrin D'an and the Modal Nodes.

Wuher is the bartender at Chalmun's Cantina, more commonly referred to as The Mos Eisley Cantina. It is a popular watering hole for pilots, smugglers, bounty hunters, and renegades passing through the spaceport.

Kabe is a member of the Chadra-Fan species, bat-like sentients with big ears and dark eyes. They communicate through high-pitched squeaks which is also an effective way for Kabe to get the attention of Wuher, the Cantina's bartender. She stands only 1 meter tall.

“Sandtroopers” is a nickname for Stormtroopers operating in desert worlds. Their armour looks like Stormtrooper outfits at first glance, but it’s augmented with cooling units, a helmet sand filter, and a survival backpack with extra rations and water. In Star Wars: A New Hope, they ride the native Tatooine dewbacks through the desert in their search for the lost Death Star plans.

In the film, the Cantina doors open sideways, but in the LEGO version, they slide up. It saves space for opening doors and makes it easier to play out fast escape scenes when you can quickly pull the doors up or down.

Ponda Baba, an associate and friend to Dr. Evazan, is an Aqualish thug who once smuggled spices for Jabba the Hutt. Bored and looking for excitement, Ponda picked a fight with the wrong farm boy and ended up minus one arm.

Believe it or not, Dr. Cornelius Evazan is, in fact, a doctor. He was once a promising surgeon, but eventually became notorious for conducting twisted medical experiments on his patients. He has the death sentence on 12 systems.

TYPICAL TATOOINE BUILDINGS

The Cantina itself is known for strong drinks, hot tunes and plenty of action. Outside the bar there's room for shady action, too. The 2 extra buildings in typical Tatooine style can connect to the Cantina building or work as standalone buildings in your own creative version of the Mos Eisley Cantina. Both buildings open and you can lift the roofs to see the details and accessories.

The 2 buildings function as a one-room house and a small junk shop operated by the Jawa minifigure. This could be where the fastest hunk of junk in the galaxy gets its spare parts from. You will find pieces of scrap metal, engines and tools for sale, and its proprietor is quick to make dubious deals with unsuspecting scoundrels passing through the Spaceport. (Maybe he plans to strip the Ubrikkian 9000 Landspeeder for parts after Greedo is shot.)
